Reading for Meaning- Good-Bye, 382 Shin Dang Dong

1. Make a prediction: From the title, Good-Bye, 382 Shin Dang Dong. What do you think the <sup>story</sup> passage might be about?

This story is gonna be about a girl or boy moving. I can tell by what it says for the title "Goodbye 382 Shin Dang Dong". Sense it says Goodbye the author is saying someone is gonna move in this story. 382 Shin Dang Dong sounds like an address.

2. How important is the sequence in this story?

This sequence is important because it has a little plot twist.

3. How is the beginning of the story out of order? Give text evidence.

The first page she's talking about how she lives in America. Then it goes back to when they're about to move in a few more days.

4. Summarize the beginning, middle, and end of Good-Bye 382, Shin Dang Dong" following the correct sequence in my own words. (Use the sequence cards and my graphic organizer from "Listening/Fluency".)

Beginning:

First, Jangmi went to the open market with Kisoni. Kisoni asked some questions about America. Then Jangmi and his parents got a taxi to the airport.

Middle:

After that, Jangmi and her parents were on the airplane to America. Jangmi asked, "How will I learn English?" Then her dad told Jangmi her English name was "Rose" which was her name in English.

End:

and unpacked her stuff. Then some of her neighbors came to give food. Then Mary told Jangmi the names of different fruits. Then Jangmi ate one. At the end, Jangmi wrote a letter to Kison, which was the promise they made to each other.

5. Fill in the chart as we read: What evidence supports the statements and what evidence goes against the statement?

Evidence For	Statement	Evidence Against
She didn't want to move to America. She wanted to stay in Korea and stay with her friend Kisoni.	Jangmi is happy in her old home.	I didn't find any evidence that said she didn't like her old home.
Jangmi was happy because she had a friend in America and Korea.	Jangmi is happy in her new home.	She was not happy at first and she was homesick.

6. Look at the evidence you wrote down for number 4. In your opinion is Jangmi happy in her new home? Why or why not.

Jangmi is happy because on the last page she has a happy face so she might like her new home.
